

LIFE BEAUTIFUL.

Words by N. K. GRIGGS.

Tho fears a - bide, Hope springs; To ills be - tide, Joy sings;

Tho greed may sneer, Love gives, — Tho doubt may jeer, God lives; The blithesome birds wake syl - van lays, And winding winds bear mys - tic praise, And laughing leaves kiss fin - ger tips, And blushing blooms lift ru - by lips;

Tho fears a-bide, Hope springs, Tho ills be-tide, Joy sings;

The greed may sneer, Love gives, — Tho doubt may jeer, God lives.

Should dark be night, Day soon, Should earth be white, Comes June; Should storm be loud, Love rifts, Should hearts be bowed, God lifts. The regnant rays shall rule the land, And romping rills give mirth - com - mand, And wooning woods know bliss su - preme, And winning world make life a dream;

Should dark be night, Day soon, Should earth be white, Comes June;

Should storm be loud, Love rifts, Should hearts be bowed, God lifts.
